

GUEST of a GUEST

CALENDAR

Calendar » Apr 2014 » Scots Jews: Identity, Belonging and the...

Scots Jews: Identity, Belonging and the Future

When Thu, April 3, 12:00 pm - 4:00 pm

Where 92nd Street Y

Admission Open

Description A project from photographer Judah Passow, who traveled across Scotland to produce a portrait that captures the complexity and diversity of Jewish life at the beginning of the 21st Century. His photo documentary illustrates the story of the Scottish Jewish community and how it maintains its traditions, while fully embracing Scottish culture. His photography serves as a visual conversation, looking at what it is that drives and defines this community and gives meaning to Jews living in Scotland in the new Century. Enjoy the exhibition at 92nd Street Y Weill Art Gallery.

Website (click here)

Art

Documentary photographer Judah Passow sheds light on Scotland's Jewish Community

Scots Jews: Identity, Belonging and the Future

March 5 – April 27

92Y (1395 Lexington Avenue, New York, NY) Map it

Free

Danielle Magee

Documentary photographer Judah Passow has spent the last year photographing Scotland's Jewish community, travelling across the country—from the Shetlands to the Borders—producing a portrait which captures the complexity and diversity of the Scottish narrative of Jewish life at the beginning of the 21st century.

- 92Y

By Julie Shannon

Published: April 2, 2014

Scots Jews: Identity, Belonging and the Future

A project from photographer Judah Passow, who traveled across Scotland to produce a portrait that captures the complexity and diversity of Jewish life at the beginning of the 21st Century. His photo documentary illustrates the story of the Scottish Jewish community and how it maintains its traditions, while fully embracing Scottish culture. His photography serves as a visual conversation, looking at what it is that drives and defines this community and gives meaning to Jews living in Scotland in the new Century.

Scots Jews: Identity, Belonging and the Future

Event Category: Exhibit

When: April 3, 2014 ~ April 27, 2014

Time: 12:00pm - 4:00pm

Where: Milton J. Weill Gallery, 92nd St. Y

More Info: <http://www.92y.org>

- See more at: <http://www.metro.us/newyork/events/scots-jews-identity-belonging-future/#sthash.sS3Oha5C.dpuf>

NYC-ARTS® The Complete Guide

Events Calendar

Scotland Week 2014

Thu, Apr 03, 2014 - Tue, Apr 08, 2014

From Thursday, April 3 through Tuesday, April 8, NYC will be filled with events that celebrate Scottish culture and heritage. From marathons to art exhibits to musical performances, Scotland Week invites all New Yorkers to embrace all things Scottish.

Through Sunday, April 27

“Scots Jews: Identity, Belonging and the Future” (FREE)

92nd Street Y

A project from photographer Judah Passow, who traveled across Scotland to produce a portrait that captures the complexity and diversity of Jewish life at the beginning of the 21st Century. His photo documentary illustrates the story of the Scottish Jewish community and how it maintains its traditions, while fully embracing Scottish culture. His photography serves as a visual conversation, looking at what it is that drives and defines this community and gives meaning to Jews living in Scotland in the new Century.

Wednesday, April 2 – Thursday, April 10

“As Others See Us” (FREE)

POP International Galleries

A stunning photography exhibit by renowned photographers Tricia Malley, Ross Gillespie and Michael Forbes, collectively known as broad daylight. Interweaves Scotland’s National poet Robert Burns (author of Auld Lang Syne) and current-day famous Scots. 29 Scots and honorary Scots, including actors Alan Cumming, Peter Capaldi, Brian Cox and Ashley Jensen, were asked to respond to their favorite poem by Burns which set the inspiration for broad daylight’s portrait of each sitter.